Rated "One of the Top Ten Places You Can Play" by Golf Magazine, The Bear Trace at Chickasaw captures all the flair and natural beauty of its sister courses while adding a distinctive characteristic indigenous to its geographic region: natural wetlands. The Bear Trace at Chickasaw is located approximately 30 minutes south of Jackson.

From the handcrafted log clubhouse, golfers enjoy a picturesque view of gently rolling fairways framed by ancient oak trees and massive pines. Flowing water from Piney Creek and several small tributaries meanders throughout the course, traversing seven of the nine finishing holes. Several holes feature split fairways with landing areas adjacent to a stream, natural marshland or both hazards. Long-ball hitters playing the Bear Trace at Chickasaw will need to be judicious in club selection, thereby avoiding ever-present and daunting fairway bunkers. With multiple tees, this heavily wooded, 18-hole, 7,118-yard, par 72 layout provides a scenic and challenging round of golf for players of every skill level.
